Official Paper of Lincoln County

THIRTY-NINE YEARS OLD.

The Pioche Record has entered upon the fortieth year of its existence. At a time when the discovery of rich ore in this camp began to attract the mining world—although remote from all transportation lines—this paper was established. The first issue came from the press September 17, 1870 under the ownership of Holland & Simpson. Pat Holland was the leading spirit in the enterprise and under his guidance the Record—the Ely Record it was called then—advanced from a weekly paper to a tri-weekly and on September 17, 1872, the Pioche Daily Record was launched, containing all the important telegraphic dispatches of the day which were secured over the old Deseret Telegraph company's lines from Salt Lake.

In looking over the old files, we find mention of the establishment of the daily edition in the following announcement:

"The rapid increase of business in Pioche—the new developments constantly being made in the mines of this and adjoining districts—together with the many improvements going on, and the constant additions to our population—render the publication of a daily paper a necessity of the times hence, the proprietor of the Record, as the pioneer publisher of Pioche, will present the first number of the edition on Tuesday next.

"The Record first saw the light on the 17th of September, 1870, as a weekly paper. In a few months it advanced to a semi-weekly, and as such was continued to the end of the first year. On its first anniversary a destructive fire laid waste to a greater portion of our then new and almost unknown town, and the Record office was nearly entirely destroyed; but sustained by a determination to prove equal to the emergency, the proprietors struggled on, and through the liberal patronage of the general public, the paper continued to prosper, and six months after its greatest trial the Record took another step forward and appeared as a tri-weekly; and now, as the third year of its existence the proprietor has the satisfaction of presenting to his readers the Pioche Daily Record."

The Record continued to dispense the news every day until a series of misfortunes befell the camp. The wheels of industry were stopped and the paper was again issued weekly. The principal mines—the dividend payers—became involved in litigation; judges and juries were bought when the cases came for trial and in more than one instance, it is told, of where bribes were paid by both sides. Corruption in official life reigned supreme and conditions came to such a state that there was no such thing as justice in tribunal, where justice should prevail. Men who were wealthy were forced into poverty; while some of the men who received the bribes paid went away comfortably fixed. On top of this, the legislation against silver had its effect. The result of it all was, Pioche became a deserted camp and up to a few years ago, capital turned a deaf ear to this region, notwithstanding that it is without question, the greatest mineralized country anywhere in the world and where opportunities—where the investment of a few thousand would return millions—went begging. Even now the mining world does not fully understand what we have here in a mineral way; but it is beginning to understand and after awhile we are going to witness activity which will eclipse the halcyon days of old.

Through all the ups and downs of Pioche, the Record has survived. For many years it was issued under difficult circumstances; but fortunately the spark of life did not become extinct and as we enter upon the fortieth year, the Record is still striving for the advancement of the welfare of Pioche, Lincoln county and Nevada in general. We hope to see this camp grow rapidly during the next few years. We would like to see it reach the proportions before another anniversary that we would be justified in announcing the reappearance of the daily edition.

The Record was the first paper in southern Nevada and it was the first in Lincoln county to install a typesetting machine. In short, the Record is better equipped than ever before to not only get out a newspaper; but to do job printing with neatness and dispatch. Now is the time to subscribe.

According to newspaper reports George Wingfield is going to oppose the re-election of his former partner, George S. Nixon, to the United States senate and will back H. B. Morehouse at one time a member of the California legislature, but now a resident of Nevada. If we remember accurately, Morehouse is the author of the ridiculous "press signature" law which passed the California legislature a few years ago, and what will happen to him when the war begins—well, just leave it to the newspapers.—Clark County Review.

The merchant who does not advertise, the man who spends the day gossiping on the street corner, and the man who always opposes every project, however good, designed to better the town, are anything but a help to the place in which they live.

Earth has few tragedies more pathetic than that of a man so filled with the lust of wealth that he gradually loses all that is beautiful and degenerates to a mere money-making machine.

Chicago packers are investigating the Caucasus and Siberia as sources of additional meat supply. We predict an early advance in the price of meat in Caucasus and Siberia.

Now that the Nevada Utah-Ohio Kentucky consolidation has been made, let us hope that the chronic knockers will put their hammers away.

There seems to be no such thing in the world as an automatic and inviolable polometer to ring a bell when a man reaches the boreal climax.

A weather prognosticator tells us that a hard winter is coming. Well, it will seem homelike to the returned Arctic explorers.

It would be a good idea for the man who discovers the south pole to take a notary along with him.

Before starting to find the pole secure a large supply of competent witnesses and then stay at home.

One hundred strong—the membership of the Pioche Commercial club. But it will grow stronger.

How Ely did it. Sent a delegation to the American Mining Congress with a brass band.

Now let us pull for a smelter and treat the ores of our mines at home.

Get the best. What? Job printing done at the Record office.

Are you ready? Then boost for Pioche and its mines.

Did you hear the No. 1 whistle toot.
